It is my pleasure to write a letter of recommendation on behalf of Jennifer DeGiovanni. I have known Jennifer for six years in her role as a Preschool Teacher in the Milford Public School system.

I have been consistently impressed by Jennifer's focus to do what is best for students. She is an advocate for her students and families. She is an excellent teacher who fosters student growth by providing high quality instruction. Her ability to connect with students to promote a safe, nurturing environment for them to take risks and develop their learning was evident in her observations. Jennifer works closely with team members to develop IEPs that are reflective of her students' needs.

Jennifer has been an active participant on several committees: revision to the preschool report card, preschool curriculum development, Intentional Play, and the Professional Development and Evaluation Committee. Jennifer has been an integral teacher in implementing Intentional Play in her preschool classroom and has a wealth of knowledge regarding early childhood development. Jennifer was part of a collaborative community to develop play-based scenarios that incorporated the Connecticut Early Learning and Development Standards.

Jennifer's willingness to take initiative makes her highly valued in the community and workplace. Jennifer brings with her a wealth of knowledge and a willingness to explore and research options.

Jennifer DeGiovanni is a highly skilled teacher, a strong collaborator and passionate about her work. She would be a valued candidate for a preschool teaching position in any school community.

Sincerely,

Andrea Giannattasio
